Contents

Acknowledgments .................................................. vii
About the Authors .................................................. ix
About the International Center for Leadership in Education ................. xiii
Foreword ................................................................. xv
   H. Richard Milner IV
Introduction .......................................................... xix

1 Developing Racial Literacy and Cultural Awareness in Schools and Classrooms ...................................... 1
   Tyrone C. Howard

2 How to Create a Trauma-Aware Learning Environment ...................... 19
   Maisah Howard

3 Confronting Implicit Bias and Microaggressions in the Classroom:
   Distinguishing Intent from Impact ................................ 45
   Kenjus T. Watson

4 Designing Culturally Responsive Learning Experiences ....................... 69
   Tonikiaa Orange

5 Promoting Critical Wellness with Young Learners ........................... 93
   Andréa C. Minkoff

6 Creating a College-Going Culture ..................................... 106
   Jonli D. Tunstall

7 “It’s Not So Much . . . for a Grade”: Humanization as Real Social and Emotional Learning ........................................... 125
   Patrick Camangian
8 Helping the Unseen: Providing Educational Equity for Students Experiencing Homelessness ........................................... 148
Earl J. Edwards
Conclusion: Sustaining the Critical Wellness Approach. ............ 171
Notes ........................................................................................................ 177
Index ........................................................................................................ 193